VOLUME XLIII

BRYAN, TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCT. 24, 1929.

NUMBER 21

The People's Column

When there is so much talk about road improvement in Brazos county I wonder if it would not be possible to do something to make the road between College and Bryan safer than it is at present.

During the next few months we will record a heavier than usual traffic along this highway. The football games to be played at A. & M. are bound to attract large crowds of visitors, especially the Thanksgiving game between the Aggies and their traditional enemies, the Longhorns from Texas University.

This road is narrow, crooked and rough. It is not feasible to straighten it or to resurface it now, but it might be smoothed and patched a little to make it safer without a great deal of expense to the state. I'm wondering if, in the event the highway engineers found time to drive over this strip of road, they would not be moved to do a little work on some of the more dangerous spots.

Negroes of Bryan Found Guilty of Prohi Violation

In order that their children might not be without some parental care Judge William L. Grubb in United States district court in Houston yesterday permitted the ninety day sentences given Ed and Delia Talley, negroes living in the vicinity of College Station, to run in rotation. Ed will do his bit first and then Delia will serve her time in the jailhouse. The couple were found guilty of bootlegging.

Last spring the pair were arrested by a federal agent from Houston, on the charge that they sold beer to A. & M. students. They were brought before Judge Hutchinson and were dismissed. Later, apparently, they appeared in court yesterday resulted from this second arrest.

Survey of No. 21 Now Is Planned; Start Next Week

MINISTER TELLS HOW THEY FORCED HIM TO LONG NIGHT DRIVE

(By Associated Press) FORT WORTH, Oct. 23. — Details of how Rev. K. O. Fugate was abducted at the gate to Trinity Park last night by two masked highwaymen and forced to drive them beyond Mineral Wells in his car, was related today by the pastor.

As this work will not be completed for some time and the survey of Highway 21 will require several months, it was decided to put a second survey party in the field. The result of this decision, it is expected, will be that early in the year it will be possible to let contracts for all or a part of this highway in Brazos county.

Although the route surveyed for Highway No. 6 from Bryan to Denison has been sent to the United States Bureau of Roads for approval, no word has been received on the matter but it is believed that a contract will be let for work on this route before the first of the year.

As this work will not be completed for some time and the survey of Highway 21 will require several months, it was decided to put a second survey party in the field. The result of this decision, it is expected, will be that early in the year it will be possible to let contracts for all or a part of this highway in Brazos county.

Rev. Fugate's version of the hold up which netted $2 and which was returned to the pastor, was given by his wife because he was too tired to talk.

Nicholas was surprised to learn that Diteman had attempted the hazardous ocean crossing in the plane.

Nicholas was not optimistic about the success of Diteman's attempt.

"We didn't build the plane for any such trip," he said. "The plane was designed for long distance flying so Diteman could cross the mountains of South America, but we did not anticipate any such flight as this."

Nicholas explained that in purchasing the plane, Diteman said he wanted it for a tour of South America. Nothing was said about plans for a transatlantic flight.

The aircraft official said he understood Diteman learned to fly several years ago and had only about 100 hours in the air at the time he purchased the Barling plane.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. — Dr. James H. Kimball of the New York weather bureau, said Tuesday that weather conditions were "fairly favorable" over most of the Atlantic ocean, when informed that W. F. Diteman had taken off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, for London.

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 23. — Many new men have been put to work in the campaign on predatory animals inaugurated by the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission since the legislature's appropriation of $70,000 annually became available.

More than $6,000 a month is being paid out by the department in this work, with ten new counties now receiving it.

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 23. — The public cost of educating a child in Wichita Falls has increased.

Taxpayers spent $84.22 per pupil based on the average daily attendance, for the education and training of 10,066 students during the years 1928 and 1929, and audit of the independent school district books shows. The average per capita cost the previous year was

HARBOR GRACE, New Foundland, Oct. 23. — Urban F. Diteman, Jr., 32, Montana cattleman who traces his ancestry to Sir Francis Drake, English sea adventurer, was presumed to be far out over the Atlantic today on a solo flight to London.

Diteman took off yesterday at noon in a small monoplane carrying 165 gallons of fuel, which the flier estimated to be sufficient for 25 hours.

His plane "The Golden Hind" last was seen ten minutes after the takeoff heading out to sea.

Airmen estimated 25 to 30 hours will be required for the 2,300 mile flight.

The plane used is a two place, open cockpit machine with a wing spread of 32 feet, 6 inches, a regular gas capacity of 25 gallons and a cruising speed of 95 miles an hour, according to the specifications on file with the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

It is a new plane recently made by the Nicholas-Beazley Airplane Manufacturing company of Marshall, Mo.

It is 21 feet, 6 inches long, 6 feet, 10 inches high and weighs 676 1/2 pounds.

It was estimated he would have more than enough gas to carry him to England, if his speed averaged 80 miles an hour.

MARSHALL, Mo., Oct. 23. — The Barling low wing monoplane in which N. F. Diteman Tuesday took off on a transatlantic flight was not designed for such a long cruise, Russell Nicholas of the Nicholas-Beazley Aircraft company builders of the little ship, said Tuesday.

Nicholas was surprised to learn that Diteman had attempted the hazardous ocean crossing in the plane.

Nicholas was not optimistic about the success of Diteman's attempt.

"We didn't build the plane for any such trip," he said. "The plane was designed for long distance flying so Diteman could cross the mountains of South America, but we did not anticipate any such flight as this."

Allen Will Meet St. Edward Team In Bryan Friday

Friday afternoon the Allen Academy eleven will meet the reserves of St. Edward's College on Allen Field in a game that is expected to be one of the hardest fought of the season.

The Allen team, though defeated at Corsicana last Friday for the first time this season, came out of the game in good shape and all the first string men will be in condition to enter the fray Friday afternoon, according to Coach Puny Wilson.

The Allen team has not suffered its home goal line to be crossed so far this year and the team is a unit in fighting to maintain this record through the season.

The team is rounding into shape as a conglomeration unit and is showing the effect of a number of hard games. Team work is better and interference has developed rapidly. The aerial game, both in offense and in defense, is improving. In the back field and at the ends Wilson has some of the best young players in the state and the team is expected to go through the season with no black marks against it, by local admirers who have watched the cadets through the season.

SCHOLARSHIP IS GIVEN TO TEXAN AT CORNELL

(By Associated Press)

CANYON, Oct. 23.—Emmett Hazelwood, who was graduated at the West Texas State Teachers college here with the class of 1928, and taught in both the Canyon high school and the College Training high school, received a signal honor since he went to Cornell university at Ithaca, New York, in September.

After attending classes for about two weeks, Hazelwood was offered an assistantship which pays him a salary of $700 for nine months and allows him time to carry on his studies as planned. All fees are also remitted which makes the scholarship worth almost $1,000.

SOME TOWNS WON'T TELLING

Not long ago the executive head of a town's leading civic organization, and the owner and publisher of the largest newspaper, had called to their attention the fact that among other such things, grass was growing in the sidewalks and curbs of their business district. They laughed and said, "Well, I guess that won't keep any business out of town."

In the same month officials of another city were reminded that they had no parks or playgrounds for youngsters or grown-ups, and they replied, "Oh, that doesn't mean anything; we have plenty of other things, and a place to play won't keep any factories from coming here."

About the same time another community was warned that lack of interest in their community, shown by so many citizens, might prove costly. They said, "Ha! ha! What has that to do with it as long as we have a Chamber of Commerce?"

Now I am told that city No. 1 was crossed off a list of seven towns selected as "possible" for a factory with a fifty thousand dollar monthly payroll, due to conditions reported as "run down, seedy and unattractive appearance of the community in general."

A large industrial concern, in the final analysis of two accepted towns, chose the other in preference to town No. 2, because the report on my desk shows said town had no recreational facilities for employees to whom five million dollars would be paid annually.

In this afternoon's mail there is evidence that because a survey of town No. 3 showed the population 72 per cent negative, civalically, the town was refused a donation of $250,000 which it had asked of a large foundation.

As long as citizens of a community refuse to profit by the experience of others—as long as they won't be told or appreciate the telling, just that long will those towns stay as they are, failing to get new business and allowing the business they have to go elsewhere.

"He didn't know the gun was loaded," "He didn't stop, look and listen," are famous epitaphs. Now, as far as many towns are concerned, you can add, "We never thought about that."

COUNTY FAIR PROSPECT IS FOR SUCCESS

EDUCATION DAY SET ASIDE AND MANY EXHIBITS ARE REPORTED

Detailed plans for the Brazos County Fair, to be held in the Oak Grove Addition Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 and 2, were announced at a meeting of the American Legion in the court house last night and the prospect is reported fine for a first class fair in every particular. All committees reported good progress in their respective fields.

It is assured now, according to reports, that seven or eight communities will make exhibits and that many individual exhibits from homes in the county as well as in Bryan will be made.

Dr. A. L. Mondrick, as spokesman for the group, made the presentation speech, following the feast of barbecue chicken with all the accompanying viands necessary to satisfy the inner man.

Those present were Noah Danks,

Birthday Party, Barbecue Supper For Bill Sebesta

The picnic grounds at Luza's pasture was the scene of a party on Thursday night honoring Bill Sebesta on his 25th birthday and enjoyed by some twenty guests who came to honor Mr. Sebesta and present him with a gift appropriate to the occasion.

It is assured now, according to reports, that seven or eight communities will make exhibits and that many individual exhibits from homes in the county as well as in Bryan will be made.

Live stock owned in the county and some from other counties will be shown. One exhibit arranged for is of fine beef cattle from Burleson county.

Business men of the city are taking space for exhibits and it is reported that already more than a score have signed up.

These exhibits will be housed in a tent 100x140 feet which the fair board has arranged to obtain.

It was decided last night to set aside the afternoon of Friday, the second day of the fair, as school or educational day. The school children of the county will be urged to attend and a prize of $10 will be given to the school with the largest attendance, in proportion to its registration, and a second prize of $5 to the school having the second largest attendance.

Legislative Day at the Dallas Fair on Thursday was an incentive for the clan to gather for a day of fellowship and fun.

Murrell Buckner, the genial member of the third house was toastmaster at the midday luncheon at the Baker hotel, and won for himself new laurels. Murrell, as he is familiarly known to all who know him, is the man who put food, fun and fellowship in Legislative Day at the Dallas Fair.

Homer D. Wade, who belongs to all Texas, but Dallas claims him for manager of their Chamber of Commerce, brought greetings on behalf of Dallas to the company gathered around the banquet board.

Lieut. Governor and Acting Governor Barry Miller was the chief speaker of the occasion.

"Since I am not in politics," he said, which brought forth ripples of laughter from all, "I would have you remember I am now Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. of Texas." However, Miller does not deny he is a candidate for governor of Texas in 1930 and will get actively into the work of campaigning after January 1. "I don't play the game as most people do. March to July is sufficient time to do intensive campaigning."

Senator Thomas B. Love was conspicuous by his absence. This was explained later when someone brought regrets from the Senator. He had been called from the city in business.

Fred Minor the next speaker of the house, expressed the appreciation of the Legislators for the genuine hospitality extended. Minor is the most popular man in the legislative fraternity. This was proven by his being unanimously chosen to head the organization.

John E. Davis, Mesquite, Dallas county representative and the oldest man in the legislature from point of service, as this is his fifteenth year, was chosen secretary-treasurer of the fraternity.

Senator Joe Moore of Greenville, Senator Edgar Witte of Waco and Rep. Ray Holder of Dallas, all possible candidates for lieutenant and governor, were not casting their hats into the ring until after the birth of the New Year.

Cecil Storey of Vernon, now representative, but candidate for attorney general, was actively pushing his campaign. Storey is an attorney, competent and capable, with much legislative training and experience, which would make him an acceptable candidate.

Lee Satterwhite from Panhandle, former speaker of the house and close aid to many legislatures, was asking his friends not to pledge themselves to any candidate for governor until after Jan. 1, as he expects to place his big sombrero in the ring. Satterwhite is trained in government affairs as perhaps few men in Texas are. Those who are students of Texas politics, say beyond any question of a doubt West Texas will have a gubernatorial candidate.

The chief speaker was P. G. Gunter, teacher of his class of business men. Mr. Gunter assured the men of the class of the blessings that had come into his own life through contact with the class, and visualized his hopes for greater activities and interest in the organization in the years ahead.

Other speakers were H. H. Williamson, former president of the class; Judge W. C. Davis, former teacher of the class, and Supt. H. L. Durham of the city schools. The closing prayer was by Rev. M. L. Jones.

Reading, Her Friend, Anna B. Thomas.

Reading, Mary Louise Jones. Peanuts, popcorn and home made candy were sold during the performance by Forrest Jones Jr.

At the close of the program the announcer, Charles Edge, after thanking the audience for their patronage, stated that the proceeds of the entertainment would be donated to the Travis P.T.A. and $7.00 was turned over to the treasurer of that organization.

Mrs. Victor Edge was untiring in her efforts to help the children put over their entertainment and her back yard proved an ideal setting. The Travis P.T.A. is grateful for the financial assistance and hopes that the children will make this an annual affair growing bigger and better every year.

Fictures were taken of the children and these will be put in the Travis P.T.A. scrapbook with a full account of the play.

Spouts Sand and Gas 150 Feet Over Derrick

BOY JUMPS FOR LIFE

Future Operations Not Yet Determined, Says Boyett

Gas was brought in about 10 o'clock Saturday morning in a well that was being drilled on the W. C. Boyett farm. Gas, sand and other materials were blown from 150 to 200 feet above the 85-foot derrick, according to many reports from eye witnesses but about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon the well apparently had sanded itself in.

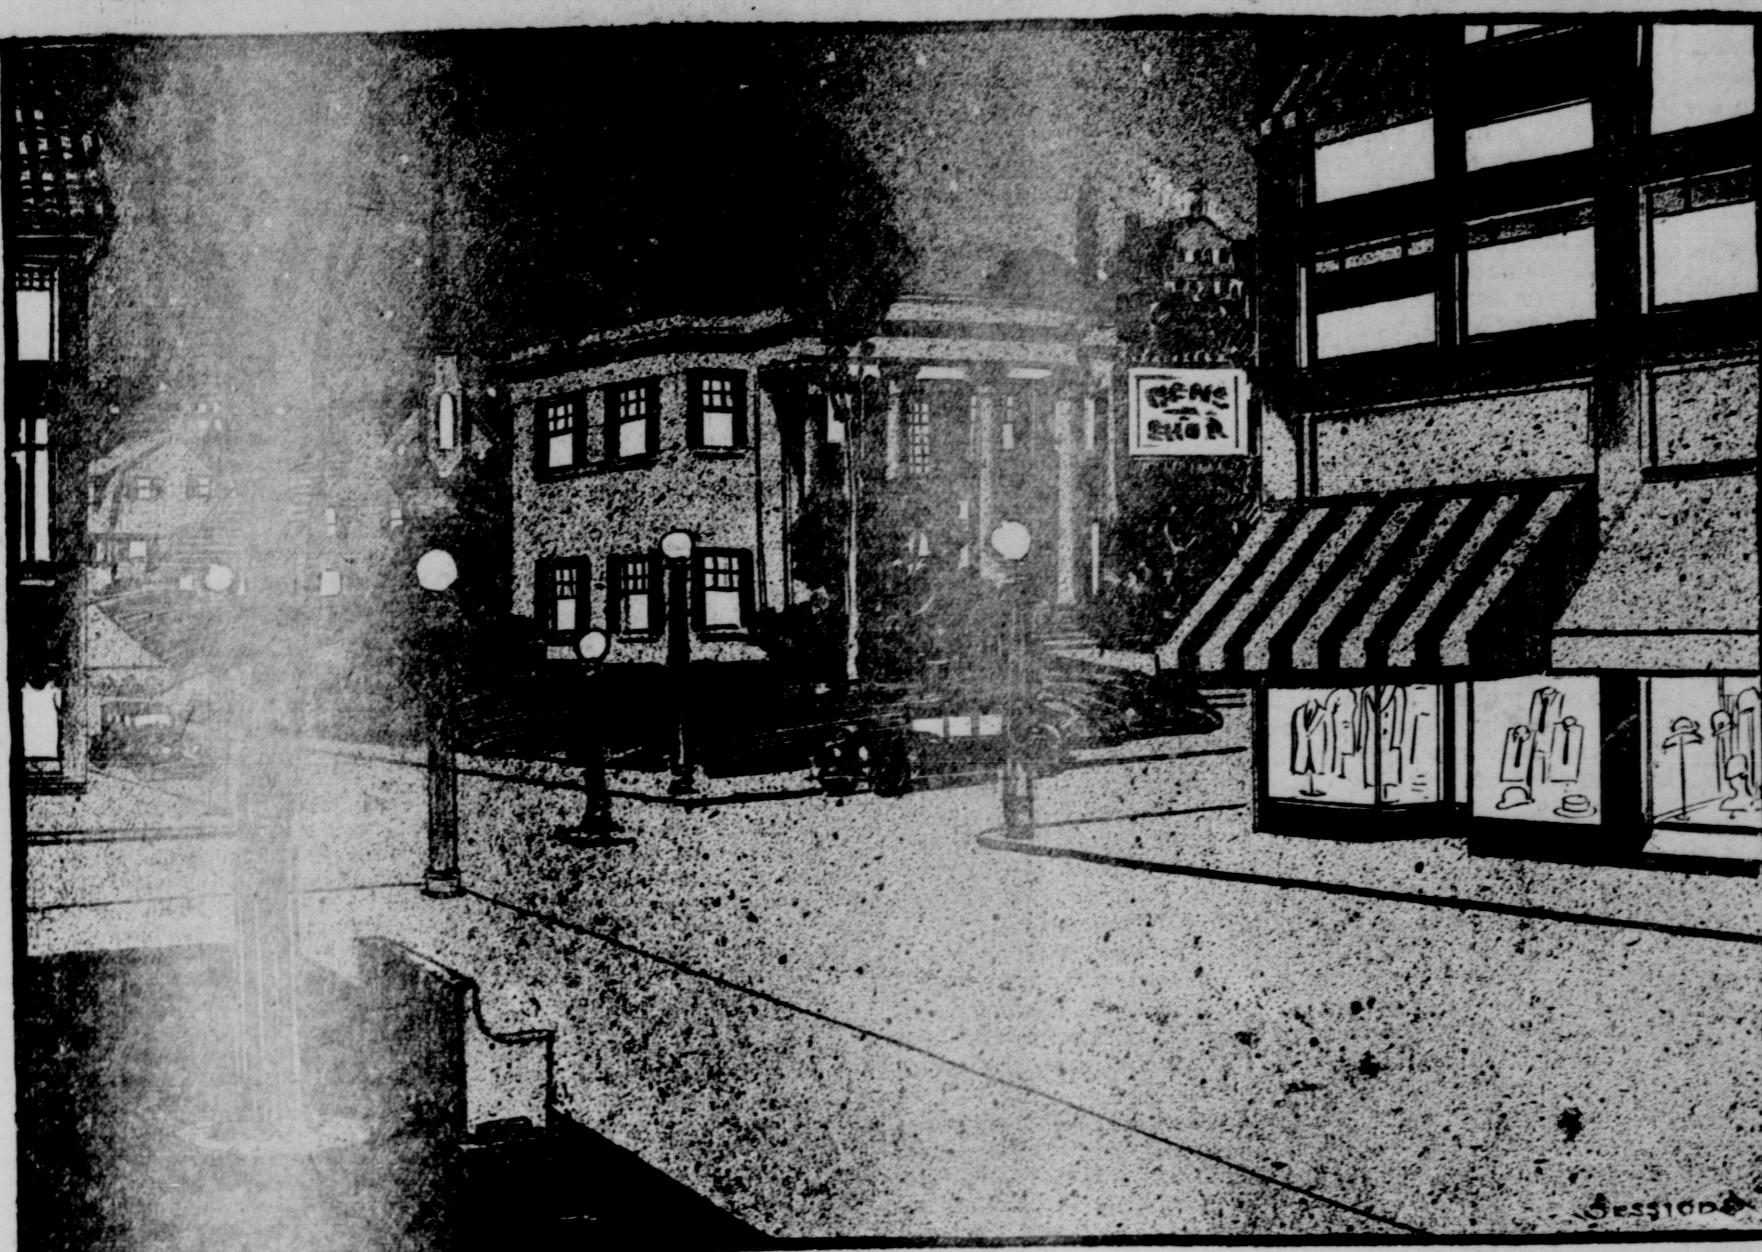

When the report first reached Bryan, shortly after noon on Saturday, it was to the effect that oil had been struck. According to many persons who visited the well Saturday and Sunday there was no evidence that oil had been found or that any of the liquid gold had shown in the materials that spouted from the casing. Others, however, said they saw traces of oil when the well first blew in.

According to reports made by men present at the time the well blew in, Claude Nail, said to be the driller, had just taken out a core and heard a rumble and roaring. He called to everyone to get back and in another minute a stream of gas and sand and other material spouted from the well, rapidly growing in force and mounting higher and higher. One of the members of the crew, whose name was given as John Mott, was on the derrick at the time. He started down but, fearing that he would be overcome before reaching the bottom, jumped off into the slush pit, suffering slight bruises.

W. A. Boyett, who is said to be financing the drilling of the well, which is located on the Williams & Williams survey, in Burleson county, just across the river and to the left of the Koppe bridge about one mile, stated yesterday that it was not known whether they would continue operations in the present hole or move over and spud in again. He said this decision might not be made for a week or ten days, as no one was certain as to just what they had in the well. It was said, too, that operations might be continued today and tomorrow, in order to see what developed, but this was undecided early this morning, according to report.

The well was down to about 1,800 feet when it blew in Saturday and had been cased down 1,200

"A Thing of Beauty"—

Nothing so advertises a town as its general appearance. No advertising is so cheap or so effective. Attractive streets, pleasant yards and comfortable, charming homes, create not only a pride among residents, but, also, have a charm for strangers.

The general appearance of our community will, in a large part, make the difference between success and failure in our efforts to build good-will and help attract the right kind of residents to become our neighbors.

A town should be made attractive as well as prosperous, intelligent, healthful and efficient. The attractive appearing town gives the community an evidence of prosperity, welfare and happiness, and of good government.

Civic beauty need cost but little in dollars and cents. The greatest investment should be made in the giving of time, thought and energy, and imagination, to a united movement toward a more beautiful community.

The success of a Town Beautiful movement is not dependent upon the raising of large sums of money, but upon the development of civic pride in every resident, so that every man, woman and child will lend their cooperation.

Streets should be well lighted and clean, free from rubbish and paper; stores well-kept—windows shining; well kept lawns and yards; plenty of suitable shade trees; shrubbery and flowers; attractive fences and lawn furniture.

It is poor economy to spoil attractive people and beautiful homes by slovenly and ill-ordered community settings.

The beauty of our town is, therefore, one of the best indexes of our community spirit.

"Only one community in ten is making any real effort towards civic beautifying and planning. There is rare opportunity open to the town whose citizens will strive to make it a thing of beauty," say experts.

Let's get together for concerted action and beautify our town.

Our business men and professional men, our public officials, our home owners and private citizens, our schools and our children, are all imbued with the energy and pride that it takes to make an outstanding town in appearance.

Paint store and lumber yard; florist and nursery men; hardware and general store—all have the material, information and willingness to make OUR "City Beautiful" plan a success.

How many are ready to signify their interest in Our City Beautiful Plan? How many are already planning what they will do? How many will actually do it?

A "City Beautiful" is only possible through the efforts of all, and this page is presented with the hope that it will stimulate both thought and action in

Primitive Medicine Given Boost

Leading physicians and surgeons, attending the American College of Surgeons meeting at Chicago, were told Saturday night by Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, that they must revolutionize their methods or the special and private practitioner would be eliminated.

It is up to the medical profession, according to Dr. Frank, either to educate the mass of the people to a program of disease prevention or to step aside and permit insurance companies, industrial organizations and, perhaps even the state, to take over this work.

The basic and most effective reason for predicting this revolution, unless the medical profession gets busy along the line of preventive medicine, is that the annual economic loss caused by preventable sickness and postponable death amounts to 350,000,000 days or $1,800,000,000. According to Dr. Frank it is estimated that this loss could be cut to a figure where, over and above the cost of prevention, approximately $1,000,000,000 would be added to the income of labor and employers.

More and more we are coming to realize that it is the right of every child to be born with a healthy body and to grow up well and strong and sturdy. The best equipment in the way of well established health that can be given a child should be his without any question of doubt and there is little question but that commerce and industry, as well as the great mass of the people themselves, are coming to see that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, especially where health is concerned. More and more men and women report to their dentists and physicians for examination at regular intervals and there is little doubt but that the laymen are coming to realize more fully each day the value of preventive medicine, not only in individual cases but to society in general.

Dr. Frank said, "Our only hope of a healthier nation, unless we go bag and baggage to state medicine, lies with the unselfish doctor who will consciously reduce his income by giving sick patients advice that may keep them from falling sick again."

Not only may this be done but the members of the medical profession are in a position to increase the number of clients who seek their advice and knowledge and experience in order that they may remain in a state of good health. Men and women may be educated to visit their physicians, just as they do their attorneys, in order to learn just what may be done without incurring the penalties of the law. In one case the laws are man-made, in the other they are of nature. But violations bring punishment, more certain in the case of nature's law than in that of man, and the thing to learn and to teach is what we must do to remain in a condition of good health.

The medical profession faces a great responsibility in this particular but as it has discharged other responsibilities having to do with the welfare and happiness of humanity, we are inclined to believe that it will not fall down on this one and that we are a long way from state medicine, though health organizations may function to our advantage and school curriculums may be revised to give more knowledge and practice in this particular matter.

Billboards and Landscapes

With the gradual improvement of the roads of Texas, which will result in a steady increase in traffic, not only from the people of this state but of tourists from other states who have been kept out of Texas to some extent by the comparatively bad condition of the roads, the people of Texas will find the matter of outdoor advertising become more of a problem.

In the last three years there has been a distinct growth in the opposition to roadside signs that lacked any semblance to beauty and that marred and desecrated the beauty of the landscape which the advertiser, consciously or unconsciously, sought to capitalize. This opposition extends from Maine to California and today is found strongest in those sections where travel is heaviest and where natural beauties are most numerous.

At a recent meeting of the Outdoor Advertising Association Wharton Pepper, former United States senator from Pennsylvania, told the delegates that the public was more interested in the removal of the billboard than in their improvement along aesthetic lines and volunteered the opinion that unless advertisers and owners of billboard facilities viewed the matter from the public's point of view rather than of their own, laws would be passed in numerous instances to do away with them entirely.

There is little or no objection to billboards in commercial or manufacturing districts and in many cases they have been made unusually attractive. But to have a billboard or a series—for where there is a good site for one usually others are to be found nearby—cutting off a beautiful vista or absolutely destroying a beautiful bit of landscape is what the traveling public is objecting to more and more strenuously. And more billboards are found that knock the beauties of nature into a cocked hat than do not.

The situation in Texas already is bad enough, but with the building of more concrete highways and the extension of main arteries of travel that will attract the tourist from the north and east, as well as result in more travel for pleasure by our own people, the condition resulting from indiscriminate blotting out of beautiful views by the erection of billboards will become more serious unless the people themselves, who are entitled to an unreserved view of the beauties of nature, make the force of their opinion felt.

Big Spring is to hold an election at which the citizens of that community will decide whether or not to vote bonds in the sum of $65,000 for the establishment of a municipal airport. Bryan could establish an airport for less than one sixth of that amount, if land that meets with government approval were to be purchased, and if we look ahead into the future a few years it would seem that this should be done now and that it should be a municipal proposition, and not a private enterprise in any sense of the word.

Time For Break Testing

Indiana's state motor patrol has found time between arrests of reckless drivers and occasional criminals to make several important surveys bearing on traffic safety. One of these has to do with the safe condition of the automobiles themselves. The result was to show that in Indiana one in 12 cars in operation has brakes in such a defective condition as to be actively dangerous. It was found that defective brakes are a prolific cause of highway accidents.

Motor car driving is always a question of control insofar as keeping its hazards at a minimum is concerned. Nothing is a greater factor in rapid and effective control than properly adjusted brakes in first-class working order. It is altogether probable that the ratio of cars with radically defective brakes developed in the Indiana survey is quite general throughout the country. There would be, of course, a much greater percentage if those cars were counted whose brakes are not in perfect order but which, with careful driving, might not be regarded as dangerous defective.

Defective brakes is concealed carelessness, and therefore carelessness of the most dangerous sort. The season of the year approaches when cars with defective brakes operated on the highways are more than ordinarily a public menace. Slippery roadways make them so. A brake-testing campaign, operated with whatever forces are at the command of the State Highway Department in Texas, would most surely operate to reduce the toll of highway accidents in the State this Fall and Winter.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Where's the Chain To End!

Industrial and commercial mergers are becoming so common that unless millions are involved no attention is given them by the general public. Chain stores are springing up everywhere and new chains and new departures for chains already formed are reported continuously.

And now we have the hospital chain suggested, for the purpose of bringing down the cost of hospitalization for the rank and file of the country. It is planned to build five institutions, each to cost approximately $1,000,000, but to concentrate all purchasing, to establish group nursing and to work out other economies that will not cut into efficiency but, on the other hand, might increase it.

There is no question but that economies may be worked out by such a plan and that hospital costs may be effectively lowered and the service cost cut to the patient. There is just as much reason for believing this in the case of the hospital as in the case of the well organized grocery chain, for example.

The only question this latest chain development raises is where is the end of the chain. Are we to have chain churches, chain schools, chain homes and et cetera through the entire gamut of life's experiences, or is the individual to continue, to some extent at least, to actively function.

Criticisms of the farm relief board on the basis that it has not functioned properly are not well based, in the opinion of those who are interested in genuine relief, if that be possible by government aid, rather than the hasty scattering and squandering of $500,000,000 of more of public money. The members of the farm board, better than the average representative or senator, know that haste must be made slowly in this matter. The farm board, there is reason to believe, regards farm relief as an economic rather than as a political question. There's the rub, in all probability. Republican senators want prompt action because of campaign pledges and to stifle Democratic criticism and Democrats are prone to criticize the board for sins both of commission and omission, largely because it is a republican creation. The chances are, if farm relief is to result from the operations of the board, that it will follow conservative and well organized action rather than action taken after a hasty view of the situation for the purpose of satisfying critics.

"This court is not a collection agency," said District Judge W. C. Davis this morning in scoring attorneys who have employed dilatory tactics in continuing civil cases from one term of court to another and thus keeping the docket all cluttered up, to say nothing of the expense to the county of summoning jurors and other activities incident to the trial of civil suits. Judge Davis is right and attorneys should be compelled to clear up cases that have been on the docket for a number of years, simply because it was to the advantage of one or the other of the parties to the action.

County-Wide Meeting Called

Owing to the poor attendance at the tomato meeting on last Saturday, the county agents is calling a county-wide meeting for next Saturday, Oct. 26, at 2 p. m. to determine whether or not any further steps need to be taken in trying to get the tomato deal put over in Brazos county. So far, less than 50 acres have been pledged, the Newton-Wallace Company of Jacksonville agreeing to put in sheds, etc., for an acreage of 200. This matter is squarely up to the farmers, who must act quickly if they desire to have a tomato marketing agency established here in Bryan. In order that a re-check of the acreage may be made, and in order that additional acreage may be pledged the following named farmers are asked to get a list of acreage in their respective communities and report same to the meeting Saturday: Lynn Sample and John W. Thompson of Tabor, Johnnie Payne and Ed Chytill of Edge, Rev. Ray H. Roitsch and E. M. Seaman of Kurten, Chas. Forsyth and J. J. Riley of Reliance, W. T. Conaway and John Merk of Independence, C. P. Powers and A. J. Murray of Steep Hollow, Frank Barnes and W. B. Barron of Harvey, J. M. Atkins and V. J. Boriskie of Rock Prairie, S. I. Let these men should fail to see those interested in this tomato enterprise, and lest some might not be able to attend the meeting you are kindly asked to fill out the following blank and send it to the county agent before Saturday:

I am interested in the proposed tomato deal for Brazos county and will plant _____ acres.

Name _____

Please send in this blank whether you have heretofore pledged any acreage or not. Come to the meeting Saturday prepared to elect officers for the tomato organization.

Fair Flower Exhibits

People are asking about the flower exhibit for the American Legion Fair. Prizes are offered on best pot plant and best cut flowers. Any type of pot plant may be entered. The cut flowers may be mixed or of one variety depending on the nature of the flowers. In scoring the cut flowers artistic arrangement and suitable container will figure definitely.

Arrange the flowers loosely and naturally. The tight bunch bouquet is less artistic. The low bow type of container is usually better than the slender, tall vase.

Rye News

The general assembly held every Tuesday and Thursday is interesting to everyone. Three pupils were appointed to plan the program for each day. Tuesday morning a fine short program was held. It consisted of a few recitations, songs and readings.

The fourth grade of Rye school has organized a story telling club. Elizabeth Pratt was elected president and Frank Fridel, secretary. The club meets every Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fridel of this community motored to Dime Box Tuesday to visit Mrs. Fridel's mother.

Mrs. L. M. Eastman of Wyoming has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fridel.

Mrs. E. J. Stoufflet and son of Jordan, Texas, are here visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Higgs.

The people of the Rye community are all busy working on their exhibit for the fair. The things will be brought to the school house and the best goes to the fair.

Visit To Dallas

County Agent C. L. Beason returned to Bryan by an early train today accompanied by Elmer Wilson, Elmer Murray and Willie Yeager, Brazos county 4-H Club boys who were guests of the management at the Dallas Fair this week. The boys and Mr. Beason all report a wonderful time and that the exhibits this year are better than ever, especially in the agricultural and livestock divisions. There were some 450 4-H Club boys attending the encampment this year, coming from all sections of the state.

Home Improvement

"Home Improvement" is the subject of the Women's Home Demonstration club program for the month of October. Special emphasis is being placed on living room improvement as that is the major project over the state for another year. Much interest has been shown in this program. Principles of room decoration are stressed. Suitable finishes, rugs, wall paper, draperies, pictures, furniture and furniture arrangement for the farm home are being studied.

One of the main points of the program is to stimulate pride in the farm home. Bunker-farmer tours have, in Mr. Otis' estimation, been most profitable in establishing common interests and fine confidence between bankers and their farmer clientele. Another plan that has his hearty endorsement is that of every banker selecting certain 4-H Club boys and girls to whom he gives financial assistance and whom he visits during the development of their club project.

Corn clubs in one Wisconsin county where each banker assumed the role of sponsor for a boys and six girls, were responsible for bringing 81 corn exhibits from the youth producers that county to the county fair the autumn of the first year. The number was considerably increased the second season.

The old saying that, "the farmer and his banker are always in the same boat", was never more true than today; although this is the first time in the memory of man when government credit extended to farming interests was the for that rocked the boat. Commercial banking in its relation to far operations and the marketing of farm products is faced with the necessity of making its policies conform to trends in agriculture. Heretofore the small town banks have largely been molding force in determining farming practices in their territory. In many instances the have killed the goose that laid the golden egg and in many other they and their farm clientele have been victims together of a changing system of commerce and markets.

It bodes good for the dairy industry in Wisconsin, Mr. Otis, said, "The State Dairyman's Association in Wisconsin was organized in 1875," said Mr. Otis, "and the transition from a one-crop section producing largely wheat to a state following diversified farm practices focusing on dairy breeding and production, has been one of evolution and not revolution." Decreased yields due to bad crop practices and competition arising from increased wheat production in the Dakotas and Minnesota, brought agriculture in Wisconsin to its knees in much the same manner that cotton production sections in the South have come to grief via credit involvements, decreased yields and unsatisfactory market systems. At just that stage in the game, the leader which history reveals has always appeared at the crucial moment, came to Wisconsin in the person of Ex-Governor W. D. Hoard, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, who left New York state to cast his lot with Wisconsin and

Good Roads

Attention to the fact that a census will be made of Bryan within a few months and that if any subdivisions are to be absorbed the process should be started without further delay, was given by the directors of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce this morning. The matter was brought to the fore by Oak M. McKenzie, who pointed out the importance of the counting of every resident, and that if the territorial areas of Bryan were to be extended soon this might well be done before the census is taken.

The question of four signs, calling attention to the fact that Brazos county has voted for good roads, and to be placed on Highways Nos. 5 and 21, just within the borders of the county, east, west, north and south, also was taken up. This matter has been discussed with the Rotary and Lions Clubs, and a committee was named to get data on costs and other information.

Elmer Wilson of Tabor, one of the Brazos county 4-H Club boys who visited the Dallas Fair as a guest of the Chamber of Commerce, and as a winner of one of the scholarships offered for good work, reported a wonderful time and new inspiration. His letter of appreciation to the organization was read. It was as follows:

"I wish to express my thanks and appreciation for the trip to the Dallas Fair. We had a wonderful time. It was certainly an inspiration to see all the farm exhibits and the fat stock—in fact everything was simply grand."

"It makes us want to do more in our club work the coming year. I wish that every club boy and girl might win a trip to the fair."

Two Grass Fires Reported Monday; Average Is High

Two grass fires kept the city fire department in practice Monday and also served to keep up the average, which for the last month and a half has been better than one a day. During September there were 35 grass fires and the alarms have been coming in at the same old rate during October.

Both fires Monday were out on College avenue. One fireman said, when he learned the location of the fire, "I don't understand it. There have been so many grass fires out that way that I don't see how a blade of grass survives. Oh boy, wouldn't a good, hard rain be great."

COTTON LOANS NOW FIXED BY RELIEF BOARD

WILL LOAN ENOUGH TO PUT
TOTAL AT AROUND
16 CENT MARK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The federal farm board said Monday that in view of its belief that present prices for cotton are too low, it proposes to lend to cotton cooperatives, qualified under the Capper-Volstead act, sums sufficient to bring the total amount borrowed from all sources by such association to 16 cents per pound on graded and classed cotton.

The board said ten designated Southern spot markets would be used for classification of the loans. The loan per pound will be approximately as follows: at the different market: Norfolk, 16.54 cents; Augusta, 16.35 cents; Savannah, 16.28 cents; Montgomery, 15.64 cents; New Orleans, 16.59 cents; Memphis, 15.39 cents; Little Rock, 15.41 cents; Dallas, 15.34 cents; Houston, 16.19; Galveston, 16.39.

At all other concentration point loans will be made on the same basis with proper adjustments on account of freight and other expenses.

After announcing a plan to lend funds to assist cotton farmers "to hold back their crop and at the same time have money with which to pay their obligations," the federal farm board revealed today that it is prepared "to take similar action on wheat on a plan to be announced later."

TO GIVE LAND FOR WIDENING OF LATERALS

Permanent Drainage Is Agreed To As Important

ALL WILL COOPERATE

To Make Bond Issue Funds Go As Far As Possible

Residents of two more rural communities of Brazos county interested in lateral road improvement have agreed to give land needed for an 80-foot right-of-way and for straightening roads as much as possible, in conferences with county officials held yesterday and last night at Kurten and at Reliance. In both communities committees were named to start work on the right-of-way matter and for the moving back of fences.

The Kurten committee, chosen yesterday afternoon at a well attended meeting, includes Charles Gerka, M. B. Easter, J. W. Beard and Henry Kurten. The Reliance committee, named at an enthusiastic meeting held last night, is composed of Britton Risner, Charles Cobb, Charles Shean, Marion Hartfield and John Lloyd.

Although nothing definite as to just where improvements should be made—what roads should be worked on—was decided at either meeting, it was agreed at both that the roads should be widened, made as straight as possible and that permanent drainage should be put in if this is possible. In each case the county officials at the conference will be held in Waco next April, with Mrs. Lee J. Rountree of Bryan, district chairman, presiding. The state convention will come about June 15 in several cities of the Rio Grande Valley, as the Valley Federation of Business and Professional Women are to be hostesses. Marion H. McClellan of Ann Arbor, Mich., is to be invited to the state meeting as special guest of honor. She is national president.—Waco News-Tribune.

New Allen Pool Ready for Water; Well Is Driven

The concrete work on the swimming pool on the new Allen Academy recreational center, which lies just to the northeast of the academy campus, has been completed. A deep well, with a four inch casing, is being driven and water from this will be drawn into the pool and forced out giving a constant stream of pure, clear water.

The nine hole golf course also is practically finished. Two of the fairways, originally very narrow, will be widened by the removal of some trees and undergrowth and other final touches put on the course that will put it in the best possible condition for a new layout.

Seats for 21,000 Will Be Available Arkansas Game

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 23.—Seating accommodations for 21,000 fans for the Texas Aggie-Arkansas Razorback game here Saturday will be available, announcement by James Sullivan, business manager of athletics at A. & M., discloses. The newly completed east side of the A. & M. concrete stadium will be ready for occupancy and will be put into use for the first time, Mr. Sullivan said.

All of the concrete for the enlarged structure has been poured and work on the seats on east side is now being completed. The west unit, which has been enlarged by one section, was put in use for the Aggie-Razorback tilt in 1927. The bottom or end section of the U-shaped structure is expected to be available for the large crowd expected here when the Aggies tangle with the S. M. U. Mustangs Nov. 9.

When completed the Texas Aggie stadium will seat nearly 34,000 people and temporary seats to care for overflow crowd will be possible when needed. The new stadium will be formally dedicated at the Turkey Day classic here when needed. At Reliance there was considerable sentiment, it is reported, for a road direct to Bryan and it was pointed out that if the road that led through the precincts of Commissioners Boyett and Moore were improved to the point where it met the road work that has been done by them, it would give a good road into this city from the Reliance community.

There also was sentiment reported from Reliance for improving the road toward Highway No. 21 and there is a well founded belief that both these improvements may be possible, thus giving the Reliance community two all-weather roads, one direct to Bryan and the other to the concrete highway and them into this city.

According to Judge McSwain, who has attended all the rural conferences, a fine spirit of cooperation has been manifested and he is confident that the residents of all rural sections were improvements are to be made will take the steps necessary to make the money from the bond issue go just as far as possible in good roads.

Big Football Day Planned by Negro High for Friday

Friday will be a big day, as planned by the athletic council for the Bryan negro high school, in the football history of that institution. The team, which has defeated Quinn College and the Houston County Training School eleven and lost to the strong Prairie View team, will take on the Booker T. Washington high eleven of Houston, which has been the outstanding negro high team of the state for two years.

By arrangements with the athletic council of Stephen F. Austin high the game will be played on Forrest Field, as the negro council desires to play one game this season where accommodations will be adequate for white fans. The bleachers will be divided, the north end being reserved for the negro fans and the south end for the whites. The north and south entrances also will be used, respectively, for negroes and whites.

The game will be preceded by a parade in which delegations of boosters for negro education and the local schools from Calvert, Hearne, Nasavata, Caldwell, Somerville and Brenham will take part. In addition there will be special cars, calling attention to the local school. One will be occupied by negroes born in slavery who had no educational advantages but carrying banners boosting the local school. Another will be occupied by persons who have quit the school but whose banners will denote their interest in it.

At the field there will be a program of plantation melodies and spirituals and a program of "pep" singing. This program, which will be resumed between the halves, will be put on by the best singers of the various communities that will be represented by the delegations, and the program will be planned according to members of the council, for the particular entertainment of the white spectators.

The game is expected to be a hard contest and the local team is in good shape for the game. The referee will be Coach Willis of the Prairie View school and arrangements will be made for the patrolling of the field by local officials to insure the best of order at all times. The game will be called at 3:15 o'clock.

The proceeds of the game will go to aid in the equipment of the local negro high team, the athletic council of Stephen F. Austin having no interest in the receipts.
